Portfolio Advisor

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Tangerine Balanced Income ETF Portfolio (the “Fund”) seeks to provide income with some potential for capital appreciation by investing in a diversified mix of equity and fixed income ETFs which invest in securities located anywhere in the world.

The Portfolio Advisor intends to primarily invest in capitalization-weighted index ETFs (or index participation units), representing five distinct asset/regional allocations, including but not limited to: Canadian fixed income, Canadian equity, U.S. equity, international equity and emerging markets equity. Regional allocations to equities will be driven primarily by relative market size, meaning larger regions/countries will receive proportionally higher allocation than smaller regions/countries.

Risk

The risks associated with investing in the Fund are as described in the Simplified Prospectus. There were no material changes to the Fund over the year that affected the overall level of risk of the Fund.

Results of Operations

The Fund had net assets of $49 million at December 31, 2023 and $35 million at December 31, 2022. The Fund’s net assets increased by $14 million over the one-year period ended on December 31, 2023. The change was composed of net sales of $10 million and investment performance of $4 million.

Investment Results

For the period ended at December 31, 2023 (the “period”), the Tangerine Balanced Income ETF Portfolio (the “Fund”) generated a total return of 9.4%. It slightly underperformed the benchmark. The Fund’s blended index, 70% Solactive Broad Canadian Bond Universe Liquid ex. MPL TR Index and 30%

Solactive GBS Global Markets Large & Mid Cap Index (CA NTR), returned 9.7% during the same period.

Global equities advanced over the 12-month period as represented by the Solactive GBS Global Markets Large and Mid Cap Index (CA NTR) returning 19.2%. This time last year, U.S. Federal Reserve (Fed) Chairman Powell stated the Fed would ‘stay the course’ with interest rate hikes ‘until the job [was] done.’ While inflation was slowing, it was still elevated over 6%. Amid the uncertainty, a record number of CEOs said they expected a U.S. recession in 2023. Following that came bank stress, the debt ceiling and more geopolitical turmoil.

Today, inflation across the developed world has since more than halved, all the while growth has remained resilient and the recession many fretted over never happened.

Market sentiment was even more unpredictable than normal over 2023, bouncing from recession worries at the start of the year, to resilient growth over the summer, to higher for longer in the autumn, and ending the year focused on future rate cuts.

The Canadian bond market, as represented by the Solactive Broad Canadian Bond Universe Liquid ex MPL TR Index, returned 6.5% for the 12-month period, as central banks began to pause their hiking schedules. The 10-year Government of Canada Bond yield was volatile during the period, driven early on by contagion concerns over regional bank collapses in the U.S., before reaching its highest level in 16 years in October, spurred by many factors including robust jobs data and potential for further rate hikes. From these highs, a massive rally in yields drove the 10-year to finish the period at 3.1%. The Bank of Canada raised its policy rate by 25 basis points (bps) in January, paused its rate hiking schedule in March and April, before raising rates again in early June and July.

Within the U.S., the 10-year Treasury yield had been trending upwards early in the year before rallying sharply in March as markets reacted to the U.S. regional banking crisis. Yields then rose into the fall, reaching highs in October before rallying sharply in the second half of the period, finishing the year at 3.9%. The Federal Reserve hiked rates by 25bps each in February, March and May, and one final time in July but then held its key rate steady at 5.25-5.50% for the remainder of the year.

Investment grade and high yield credit spreads, as measured by ICE BofA Canadian and U.S. corporate indices OAS (Option-Adjusted Spread) rallied at the start of the year before widening during the bank crisis in March. As worries over contagion subsided, spreads drifted lower. The second half of the year saw spreads widen as the Israel/Gaza crisis unfolded before narrowing from November into the end of the year.

Over the period, the Canadian dollar strengthened against the Japanese yen and U.S. dollar, while weakening against the British pound.

Recent Developments

Since late 2021, inflation readings have been elevated in Canada, the US, and Europe. Since 2022, Inflation Risk and Central Bank tightening has continued to impact markets. In 2023, in a continued attempt to tame rising inflation, the Central Bank of Canada increased rates by 0.75%, a 4.75% increase since the first rate hike in 2022. Additionally, the escalating geopolitical risks in the Middle East and the war in Ukraine continue to cause significant economic and humanitarian damage, and have resulted in continued disruptions to the global supply chain.

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's annual audited financial statements. The information for the net asset per unit section of the financial highlights are based on IFRS Accounting Standards ("IFRS"). The Fund commenced operations on January 6, 2022.
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial year.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash/reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.
- (4) This information is provided as at December 31 of the period shown.
- (5) Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses plus harmonized sales tax (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and the proportionate share of the underlying funds' related expenses for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year. The manager absorbed certain expenses of the fund, and expects these absorptions to continue in the future to keep the MER within a target range. Such absorptions may be terminated at any time without notice.
- (6) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs and the proportionate share of the underlying funds' related expenses expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year.
- (7) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance.
