Investment Objective and Strategies

The Tangerine Balanced Growth Portfolio (the “Fund”) seeks to provide capital appreciation by investing in both fixed income and equity securities based on a targeted allocation among four different types of investments in the following proportions:

Each of the four investment types seek to replicate, as closely as possible, the performance of a recognized securities index. Currently, the Canadian bond component seeks to replicate the Solactive Broad Canadian Bond Universe Liquid ex MPL TR Index; the Canadian equities component seeks to replicate the Solactive Canada Large Cap Index; the U.S. equities component seeks to replicate the Solactive GBS United States 500 CAD; and the international equities component seeks to replicate the Solactive GBS Developed Markets EX North America Large & Mid Cap CAD Index.

Risk

The risks associated with investing in the Fund are as described in the Simplified Prospectus. There were no material changes to the Fund over the year that affected the overall level of risk of the Fund.

Results of Operations

The Fund had net assets of $1,694 million at December 31, 2025 and $1,537 million at December 31, 2024. The Fund’s net assets increased by $157 million during the year ending on December 31, 2025. The change was composed of investment performance of $234 million and net redemptions of $77 million.

Investment Results

For the year ended December 31, 2025 (the “period”), Tangerine Balanced Growth Portfolio (the “Fund”) generated a total return of 15.81% compared to the Fund’s benchmark which returned 17.02%. Fund returns are reported net of all management fees and expenses, unlike the returns of the Fund’s benchmark, which is based on the performance of an index that does not pay fees or incur expenses.

We expect real GDP to expand at a slower pace in 2026, primarily due to a weakening labor market and ongoing uncertainty regarding trade with the US.

The Canadian economy held up better than expected despite the uncertainty around trade and tariff policy. Still somewhat cautious, but GDP growth 2025 exceeded forecasts over the first and third quarter, and proved to be more resilient than expected. Largely attributable to fluctuations in net exports. In contrast, final domestic demand experienced a marginal decline as consumer spending remained subdued. It is likely that consumption growth will remain modest through 2026, reflecting slower population growth and persistent softness in the labor market.

Recent improvements in employment figures have been counterbalanced by ongoing structural weaknesses. Labor demand continued to be subdued. The unemployment rate declined markedly from 7.1% in September to 6.5% in November, but largely due to increased part-time employment and strong demand in the healthcare and social assistance sectors. Sectors reliant on trade remained underperforming. Hourly wages in November increased by 3.6% year over year, slightly above October’s 3.5%; however, wage growth is projected to decelerate amid continued labor market challenges. We expect the unemployment rate to rise further in the first half of 2026, as reduced labor demand continues to offset the effects of slower population growth.

While annual core inflation remains steady, its three-month annualized rate has now moved into the Bank of Canada’s target range of 1-3%. The latest data does not suggest any heightened risk of stubborn core inflation, and shelter inflation is expected to decline even more. With ongoing trade uncertainties and a difficult job market, our projections indicate that core inflation will likely keep easing throughout 2026.

Bank of Canada reduced its policy rate to 2.25%, reaching the lower end of its estimated neutral range. Based on current analysis, we expect that the Bank will maintain this rate over the coming year.

Canadian Bonds

For the year ended December 31, 2025, the Fund generated a total return of 2.53% while the Canadian bond market, as measured by the Solactive Broad Canadian Bond Universe Liquid ex MPL Index, returned 2.58%. The Tangerine Balanced Growth Portfolio underperformed its benchmark in 2025 which can be attributed to mis-weights due to our sampling process.

Within the Fund’s Canadian fixed income component, Cash, Industrial and Financial Institutions sectors posted the highest

Notes:

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's annual audited financial statements. The information for the net asset per unit section of the financial highlights are based on IFRS Accounting Standards ("IFRS").
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial year.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash/reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.
- (4) This information is provided as at December 31 of the years shown.
- (5) Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses plus harmonized sales tax (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year. The manager absorbed certain expenses of the fund. Such absorptions may be terminated at any time without notice.
- (6) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year.
- (7) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance.
