Investment Objective and Strategies

The Tangerine Balanced Growth Portfolio (the “Fund”) seeks to provide capital appreciation by investing in both fixed income and equity securities based on a targeted allocation among four different types of investments in the following proportions:

Each of the four investment types seek to replicate, as closely as possible, the performance of a recognized securities index. Currently, the Canadian bond component seeks to replicate the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index; the Canadian equities component seeks to replicate the S&P/TSX 60 Index; the U.S. equities component seeks to replicate the S&P 500 Index; and the international equities component seeks to replicate the MSCI EAFE Index.

Risk

The risks associated with investing in the Fund are as described in the Simplified Prospectus. There were no material changes to the Fund over the year that affected the overall level of risk of the Fund.

(1) Six month total return. In accordance with National Instrument 81-106, we have included a comparison to broad-based indices to help you understand the Fund’s performance relative to the general performance of the market, but caution that the Fund’s mandate may be significantly different from the indices shown.

Global growth remains moderate but steady. Earlier in June, the Bank of Canada and the European Central Bank cut their policy rates ahead of the US Federal Reserve (Fed). With that, 30 countries have lower policy rates in June.

The Bank of Canada (BoC) has begun the process of lowering interest rates by cutting its overnight lending rate to 4.75%, down from 5%, the level it has maintained since July 2023. The bank also acknowledged that “monetary policy no longer needs to be as restrictive” while at the same time, they will proceed cautiously as “risks to the inflation outlook remain.” Since our June update, recent data seems to support back-to-back rate cuts. Across Canada, we now expect Canada’s GDP to grow 0.9% in 2024, down slightly from the 1.0% we forecast last quarter, before the economy picks up in earnest in 2025. Latest GDP data shows weaker-than-expected Q1 GDP growth and a big downward revision to Q4 growth. Q1 GDP grew 1.7% q/q saar, softer than consensus at 2.2% and much lower than the BoC’s latest forecast of 2.8%. Q4 growth was also revised lower to just 0.1% from 1.0%. Final domestic demand came in at a very strong 2.9% q/q, with consumer spending supporting growth. However, we need to be careful when interpreting the data as there could be some temporary seasonal influences at play like last year.

The Canadian bond market, as measured by the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index, returned -0.38% over the six-month period. Canadian stocks, as measured by the S&P/TSX 60 Index, for the six-months period (Jan 2024 to June 2024) up by 4.9%. Similarly, international equities, as measured by the MSCI EAFE Index, rose by 9.31% in Canadian-dollar terms. In the U.S., the S&P 500 Index ended the period up 19.64% in Canadian-dollar terms.

Canadian Bonds

Within the Fund’s Canadian fixed income component, Non-REIT, REIT, and ABS sectors posted the highest returns, while Northwest Territories, Quebec, and Prince Edward Island posted the weakest returns. Great-West Lifeco Inc (3.6% 12/31/81), Intact Financial Corp (3/31/81) TransEd Partners GP (3.951% 9/30/50) were the strongest-performing holdings within the Fund. Hydro-Quebec (2.1% 2/15/60), Canada Gov Bond (1.75% 12/1/53) and Canada Gov Bond (2.75% 12/1/64) were the weakest-performing holdings within the Fund.

Canadian Equities

Within the Fund's Canadian equities component, the Energy sector posted the highest return, followed by Materials and Financials. Meanwhile, the Communication Services, Information Technology, and Utilities sectors underperformed during the period. The best-performing securities within the S&P/TSX 60 Index were Royal Bank of Canada, Manulife Financial Corporation, and Constellation Software Inc. On the other hand Toronto-Dominion Bank, Shopify, Inc. Class A and Bank of Montreal were the worst-performing securities within the index.

U.S. Equities

Within the Fund's U.S. equities component, Information Technology posted the highest return, followed by Communication Services and Financials sectors. Real Estate sector had negative return, while the Materials and Utilities sectors underperformed. From an individual securities perspective, the best-performing stocks within the S&P 500 Index were NVIDIA Corporation, Microsoft Corporation and Amazon.com, Inc. On the other hand Tesla, Inc., Intel Corporation and Boeing Company were the worst-performing stocks within the index.

International Equities

Within the Fund's international equities component, the best-performing sector was Financials, followed by Industrials and Health Care. Real Estate sector detracted from the performance followed by Consumer Staples and Materials during the period. The best-performing securities within the MSCI EAFE Index during the period were Novo Nordisk A/S Class B, ASML Holding NV and SAP SE. The worst-performing securities were BHP Group Ltd, Nestle S.A. and AIA Group Limited.

Notes:

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's annual audited financial statements, except for 2024, which is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim financial statements. The information for the net asset per unit section of the financial highlights are based on IFRS Accounting Standards ("IFRS").
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial period.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash/reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.
- (4) This information is provided as at June 30, 2024 and December 31 of the years shown.
- (5) Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses plus harmonized sales tax (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year. The manger absorbed certain expenses of the fund. Such absorptions may be terminated at any time without notice.
- (6) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
- (7) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance.
