Investment Objective and Strategies

The Tangerine Equity Growth Portfolio (the “Fund”) seeks to provide capital appreciation by investing in equity securities based on a targeted allocation among three different types of investments in the following proportions:

Each of the three investment types seek to replicate, as closely as possible, the performance of a recognized securities index. Currently, the Canadian equities component seeks to replicate the S&P/TSX 60 Index (C$); the U.S. equities component seeks to replicate the S&P 500 Index (C$); and the international equities component seeks to replicate the Solactive GBS Developed Markets EX North America Large & Mid Cap CAD Index.

Risk

The risks associated with investing in the Fund are as described in the Simplified Prospectus. There were no material changes to the Fund over the year that affected the overall level of risk of the Fund.

Results of Operations

The Fund had net assets of $1,570 million at June 30, 2025 and $1,510 million at December 31, 2024. The Fund’s net assets increased by $60 million over the six month period ending on June 30, 2025. The change was composed of investment performance of $108 million and net redemptions of $48 million.

Investment Results

For the six month period ended June 30, 2025 (the “period”), Tangerine Equity Growth Portfolio (the “Fund”) generated a total return of 7.36% compared to the Fund’s benchmark which returned 7.80%. Fund returns are reported net of all management fees and expenses, unlike the returns of the Fund’s benchmark, which is based on the performance of an index that does not pay fees or incur expenses.

For the period, the Fund tracked the product benchmark before fees and expenses. The table below shows the returns of the indices that make up the Fund’s product benchmark.

Component	Index	2025 Return ¹
Canadian Equities	S&P/TSX 60 Index (C$)	9.46%
U.S. Equities	S&P 500 Index (C$)	0.76%
International Equities	Solactive GBS Developed Markets Ex North America Large & Mid Cap CAD Index ²	13.33%

- (1) Six month total return. In accordance with National Instrument 81-106, we have included a comparison to broad-based indices to help you understand the Fund’s performance relative to the general performance of the market, but caution that the Fund’s mandate may be significantly different from the indices shown.
- (2) Effective Nov 1, 2024, the MSCI EAFE Index benchmark was replaced with Solactive GBS Developed Markets Ex North America Large & Mid Cap CAD Index for some portfolios. Where applicable, the performance presented on this report is a blended performance data between the two benchmarks, since inception.

We expect GDP will grow by 1.0% this year and 1.2% next year. The imposition of higher US tariffs on auto exports and uncertainties surrounding U.S. trade policies have weakened economic momentum. Moreover, a continued slowdown in population growth is expected to contribute to muted economic growth.

Headline GDP for Q1 appears robust, with growth reported at an annualized rate of 2.2%, above market and the Bank of Canada (BoC) expectations. Given the heightened uncertainty around trade, employment outlook, and monetary policy, household spending is set to further weaken into Q2.

On April 2nd, the implementation of higher tariffs by the United States on other countries enhanced Canada’s competitive position. This has boosted business confidence modestly. However, Canada’s tariff landscape remains uncertain, particularly for products such as steel, aluminium, non-USMCA energy items, and motor vehicle components, which are subject to U.S. higher tariffs between 10-50%. As a result, we expect that companies will continue to delay significant investments and hiring plans until the USMCA has been renegotiated.

A pull-forward in trade boosted Canadian GDP growth in Q1 with healthy export gains. However, significant drags are expected in Q2. Exports to the U.S. fell by 12.9% year over year in April, reflecting the impact of US tariffs, especially auto tariffs. While exports to non-U.S. markets have increased, they could not offset the decline in US shipments. Short-term risks remain tilted to the downside. Despite Canada’s suspension of several U.S. counter tariffs, which offers some relief for imports, exports are expected to be negatively affected by persistent trade tensions.

Tangerine Equity Growth Portfolio

Interim MRFP for the period ended June 30, 2025

Job growth has decelerated considerably this year, as businesses have suspended their hiring plans due to prevailing uncertainties. The unemployment rate has increased to 7%; the highest level since September 2016, aside from the pandemic. However, layoffs seem mostly contained to industries that are most vulnerable to Canada-US tariffs like manufacturing and transport and warehousing. We expect that the unemployment rate will remain at approximately 7% through the end of the year, a sharp increase from last year average of 6.4%.

Along with tepid domestic demand, the elimination of the carbon tax and lower oil prices are expected to help maintain stable headline inflation. Following an unexpected rise in April, the data for May was largely in line with expectations. Measures of core inflation also moderated, driven by decreases in travel tour costs and rental prices. The persistent challenges in the housing market should contribute to moderating further increases in rent over the coming months.

While the outlook hinges on trade negotiations, we expect that soft economic backdrop should give the BoC space to cut rates twice more this year, reducing the policy rate to 2.25%. This measure is expected to bolster future growth, especially in residential investment, which may once again contribute positively to growth this year and the next.

The risks to our growth forecasts lean towards the downside. Higher-than-assumed tariffs on Canadian exports and weaker U.S. demand could negatively impact Canadian goods and services. Meanwhile, on the upside, increased fiscal spending by the new government – on infrastructure, defense, and a modest income tax cut – could boost growth.

International Equities

International equities, as measured by the Solactive Gbs Developed Markets Ex North America Large & Mid Cap CAD Index, for 6 months (Jan 2025 to June 2025) up by 13.13% in Canadian-dollar terms. Similarly, in the U.S., the S&P 500 Index (C$) up by 0.76% in Canadian-dollar terms and Canadian stocks, as measured by the S&P/TSX 60 Index (C$), were up by 9.46%.

Notes:

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's annual audited financial statements, except for 2025, which is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim financial statements. The information for the net asset per unit section of the financial highlights are based on IFRS Accounting Standards ("IFRS").
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial period.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash/reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.
- (4) This information is provided as at June 30 of the periods shown.
- (5) Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses plus harmonized sales tax (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The manager absorbed certain expenses of the fund. Such absorptions may be terminated at any time without notice.
- (6) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
- (7) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance.

Past Performance

The performance information shown assumes that all distributions made by the Fund in the periods shown were reinvested in additional units of the Fund and would be lower if the distributions were not reinvested. In addition, the performance information does not take into account any income taxes that may have been paid by investors who have invested in non-registered accounts. Past performance does not necessarily indicate how the Fund may perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Returns

The chart below indicates the Fund's performance in each of the years shown and illustrates how the Fund's performance has changed from year to year. The chart demonstrates, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each financial year would have grown or decreased by the last day of each financial year.
