Manager

Tangerine Investment Management Inc. (the “Manager”)

Portfolio Advisor

1832 Asset Management L.P. (the “Portfolio Advisor”)

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Tangerine Balanced ETF Portfolio (the “Fund”) seeks to provide a balance of income and capital appreciation by investing in a diversified mix of equity and fixed income exchange traded funds which invest in securities located anywhere in the world.

The Portfolio Advisor intends to primarily invest in capitalization-weighted index ETFs (or index participation units), representing five distinct asset/regional allocations, including but not limited to: Canadian fixed income, Canadian equity, U.S. equity, international equity and emerging markets equity. Regional allocations to equities will be driven primarily by relative market size, meaning larger regions/countries will receive proportionally higher allocation than smaller regions/countries.

Results of Operations

The Fund had net assets of $60 million at June 30, 2021 and $8 million at December 31, 2020. The Fund’s net assets grew by $52 million over the six-month period ending on June 30, 2021. This growth in the Fund’s net assets was primarily due to an increase in net assets from operations of $2 million and from net sales of $51 million.

Investment Results

Performance information is not available for periods less than one year.

As the Fund was created on November 12, 2020, and this section of the MRFP is intended for discussion of the Fund’s past performance, no information is provided at this time. In accordance with National Instrument 81-106, past performance and annual return data is not disclosed as the Fund has been a reporting issuer for less than a year.

During the first half of 2021, most major equity markets reached all-time highs, largely as a result of global fiscal and monetary policies and the rapid rollout of vaccination programs. Europe, the U.S., Canada, the U.K. and several smaller economies were expected to have partially vaccinated at least half of their populations by early July. Increased vaccination rates contributed to expectations of faster economic reopenings and growth.

In Canada, the economy grew at an annual rate of 5.6% in the first quarter of 2021, as relaxed public health restrictions allowed households to spend more on goods and services. The price of crude oil rebounded strongly, increasing by more than 50% to end the period above US$70 per barrel, a level not experienced since the fall of 2018. This supported the Canadian Energy sector, which was the best-performing sector in the S&P/TSX Composite Index over the period. Similarly, the Canadian bond market rebounded earlier in the period as investment grade and high-yield credit spreads (the difference in yield between corporate bonds and similar government bonds) narrowed to pre-pandemic lows. However, credit spreads widened in March as technical factors became a challenge.

In the U.S., the easing of COVID-19 restrictions allowed economic activity levels to improve. Economic data from the first quarter of 2021 was generally very strong, with the U.S. posting an annualized growth rate of 6.4% for the quarter. The U.S. administration supported the economy by signing a US$1.9 trillion fiscal stimulus package and securing an infrastructure package worth about US$1.2 trillion to upgrade roads, bridges and broadband networks over the next eight years. However, the reopening of the economy and quick rebound in growth fuelled inflation concerns. In May, the U.S. Consumer Price Index rose by 5.0% year-over-year. Nevertheless, the U.S. Federal Reserve Board held its policy rates steady and stated that the inflation increase was likely to be transitory rather than permanent.

In international markets, European countries generally performed well, while there was some disparity among Asian nations. Both Japan and China delivered slightly negative returns for the period, as did Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines. Conversely, India, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Australia, Singapore and South Korea posted positive returns.

Recent Developments

The portfolio advisor's objective is to match the asset class weightings according to the allocations outlined in the Fund's investment objectives. The Fund will continue to follow this objective going forward

COVID-19

The COVID-19 pandemic, which began in late 2019, continued to dominate headlines and markets throughout 2020 and into the first half of 2021. While the world economy continues in a recovery mode phase, the regional contributions to the overall path have started to become somewhat more mixed in response to differences in policy settings, the evolution of viral contagion, and the speed and success of the individual vaccination programs. GDP for the G-7, generally thought of as a group of mature and slower growing countries, has increased at close to a 15% annualized rate over the past three quarters. As the global economy continues to expand, policy makers continue to stimulate, and vaccine programs ramp higher, we continue to monitor the situation and the effects on the Fund.

Notes:

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's annual audited financial statements, except for 2021, which is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim financial statements for the six months ended June 30, 2021. The information for the net asset per unit section of the financial highlights are based on International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"). The Fund commenced operations on November 10, 2020.
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial period.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash/reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.
- (4) This information is provided as at June 30, 2021 or December 31 of the period shown.
- (5) Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses plus harmonized sales tax (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and the proportionate share of the underlying funds' related expenses for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The manager absorbed certain expenses of the fund, and expects these absorptions to continue in the future to keep the MER within a target range. Such absorptions may be terminated at any time without notice.
- (6) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs and the proportionate share of the underlying funds' related expenses expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
- (7) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance.
